The workshop began with an introduction from Haritima members, who discussed the environmental impact of synthetic Holi colors, often laden with harmful chemicals. They highlighted the benefits of using natural alternatives, which are safer for both individuals and the environment. This set the stage for an interactive and creative session focused on sustainable practices.

Participants were guided through the process of creating organic colors using everyday ingredients like turmeric, beetroot, henna, and flower petals. Each ingredient was chosen for its bright hue and natural origin, providing a safe and biodegradable option for Holi festivities. Students enjoyed hands-on experience grinding, mixing, and experimenting with different combinations to create an array of vibrant colors.

The atmosphere was lively and filled with creativity as students crafted their own color blends, learning how simple it is to incorporate eco-conscious choices into traditional celebrations. The workshop concluded with a display of the handcrafted colors and a group reflection on the importance of sustainable festivities.

Rangotsav successfully raised awareness about eco-friendly practices while celebrating the spirit of Holi. Haritima's event inspired participants to adopt greener alternatives, ensuring that the joy of Holi extends to nature as well.
