The Social Entrepreneurship Wing inaugurated its stitching camp at Anand Parbat in collaboration with Enactus Ramjas lately, namely Project Manzar. The occasion was joyous, as the wing strives to make it a successful attempt towards improving the social and economic status of women living in the neighbourhood. NSS Hansraj aims at helping the unprivileged poor ladies by employing them to sew bags for which all the raw materials along with sewing machines are provided by the organizers. Neighbourhood women collect at the workplace in their allotted day hours and sew bags and get paid accordingly. All the profit that is earned on selling those bags is used for the betterment of these women. NSS endeavours to remove poverty by making these women self-reliant so they can work and earn for themselves through the move; hence making society a better place to live for all.
