“Abled doesn't mean enabled. Disabled doesn't mean less abled.” Another waypost was oversighted in the odeyssey of N.S.S. Hansraj. A visit to the Anukriti Special School for mentally impaired children was conducted to mark the first day of the Joy of Giving Week started by N.S.S. Hansraj. After receiving a warm welcome from the cheerful faces, an ice breaking introduction session was done. Keeping our promises for fun and excitement, ‘Antakshari’ was played. Children of all age groups contributed to it with zeal. It was followed by a dance. It was a pleasure to see those countenances laughing and enjoying themselves. To encourage the brimming talent in them, a painting competition on the theme of International Peace Day which is observed on the same day was announced. Painting colours and crayons were distributed among them. The two winning teams were apprised with a prize of notebooks . Teachers present there were also esteemed with token of love and respect. Hence, everything was wound-up by afternoon and the volunteers received a solemn farewell. It was an enlightening affair for everyone.
