Date of the Event: 29th September, 2019

We at N.S.S. Hansraj strive to promote social well-being and try our level best to contribute towards various sectors that are of significant importance for the upliftment of the society. Hence, to promote the education of the underprivileged, N.S.S. Hansraj organised a computer literacy session on September 29, 2019 with the sole noble intention of imparting computer science education to the less privileged children of the Yamuna Khadar slum area. The students had been craving to be introduced to the world of computers but unfortunately did not possess the fortune of owning a computer. Hence, the knowledge was imparted by N.S.S. volunteers using laptops. The volunteers started their program by giving practical experience, which included MS Paint, Word, Excel, and PowerPoint. The main emphasis was to make students realise the importance of knowledge of computer systems which in turn would help them in their future. All the students listened to the volunteers with great patience and attentiveness. Thus the programme ended on a happy note and a beautiful smile was seen on the faces of the beneficiaries.
