Event Description (About 250 Words)

The Department of History, Hansraj college organized a thought-provoking seminar featuring Dr. Aparna Balachandran, Associate Professor in the Department of History at University of Delhi. Dr. Balachandran delivered a captivating lecture on the topic “Voices, Agency, and Power: Reading the Colonial Archives,” drawing a diverse audience of students, faculty members, and history enthusiasts. Dr. Balachandran's presentation offered deep insights into the complexities of colonial archives and the ways in which they can be studied to understand the power dynamics that shaped colonial governance. She explored how colonial documents, often created to enforce and legitimize the colonial state, simultaneously offer glimpses into the lives of those subjugated under imperial rule. By reading against the grain, Dr. Balachandran highlighted the possibility of recovering the voices and agency of marginalized groups, such as indigenous peoples, women, and other historically oppressed communities, within the colonial record.

The session concluded with a lively Q&A, where participants engaged in discussions on archival ethics, interdisciplinary methodologies, and the implications of revisiting colonial narratives in modern historical research. Overall, the seminar served as a valuable platform for reflecting on the
