The Dark Patterns Buster Hackathon, a collaborative effort between the Ministry of Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution, and IT-BHU, took place from January 21-31, 2024. This innovative event aimed to challenge conventional norms and promote creative problem-solving. Following a successful Round 2 held at Hansraj College, facilitated by the Women Development Cell, the top teams moved to the Grand Finale on February 17 at the IT-BHU

The hackathon's theme, "Break Convention Norms," encouraged participants to think outside the box and develop innovative solutions to tackle dark patterns. The event brought together talented individuals from diverse backgrounds, fostering a spirit of collaboration and healthy competition.

Through this initiative, the Ministry and IT-BHU sought to empower young minds to challenge established norms and create positive change. The hackathon's outcome showcased cutting-edge ideas, highlighting the potential for technology to drive societal impact. The success of the Dark Patterns Buster Hackathon underscored the importance of collaborative efforts in shaping a brighter, more inclusive future.
