to November 7, 2023, and included responses from students and the general public.

Analysis of the results highlighted alarming concerns about air quality, especially with the onset of winter, which tends to exacerbate pollution levels. Many respondents reported immediate health impacts from the pollution, including respiratory issues, eye irritation, and general discomfort, reflecting the grave impact of air pollution on daily life.

While Diwali was recognized as a major contributor to seasonal pollution, participants acknowledged that pollution is a persistent issue in Delhi, influenced by factors like vehicle emissions, industrial activities, and agricultural practices. A significant portion of the participants supported eco-friendly celebrations, with suggestions ranging from using eco-friendly lights to opting for green crackers and spending time with family.

Encouragingly, over 85% of respondents indicated that they would refrain from purchasing crackers this Diwali, showing a growing awareness and commitment to environmental responsibility.

Haritima concluded the survey with a collective pledge to avoid firecrackers, reinforcing a shift towards sustainable practices. This survey emphasizes the need for both individual and collective efforts to promote a cleaner, healthier Delhi, and serves as a valuable tool in driving community awareness and encouraging positive change.
