Date of the Event: 23th February, 2024

Name of Convener: Dr Meenakshi Malhotra, Dr Maitri Baruah

Event Description (About 250 Words)

On 23 February, the Book Club of the English Literary Society at Hansraj College orchestrated a thoughtful and thorough discussion on “The Long Silence” by Shashi Deshpande. The meeting unfolded as an insightful exploration, prompting participants to engage in a nuanced examination of narrative reliability and power dynamics within the story. Kicking off with an exploration of unreliable narrators and adopting a critical lens akin to Jaya’s approach, the dialogue naturally expanded to encompass a rich tapestry of themes including power politics, class privilege, and intricate nuances within marriage dynamics.

Participants engaged in thought-provoking reflections on the complexities of unconditional love, the subtle art of emotional manipulation, and the strategic use of silence.

As the meeting concluded, participants offered eloquent concluding statements that underscored the deliberate exclusion of females, particularly through a feminist lens, emphasizing the far-reaching impact of class divides and patriarchy.

The session, overall, culminated in a profound and reflective analysis, leaving attendees with a heightened appreciation for the societal constructs and narrative intricacies embedded in Jaya’s compelling story.
