Date:- 20th October, 2023

Convenor of the event:- Dr. Maitri Baruah, Dr. Meenakshi Malhotra

The screening of "The Menu" organized by the English Literary Society provided a thought-provoking experience for attendees. The movie concluded with a profound exploration of the idea of dying, prompting reflective discussions among the audience.

Theories surrounding the origin of the cheeseburger meat sparked curiosity and added a layer of intrigue to the storyline. The cheerful opening, featuring explicit shots of nature with honeybees and plants, set a vibrant tone, contrasting with the darker themes that unfolded.

Margot's character emerged as the sole variable threatening the status quo of the restaurant, adding a dynamic element to the narrative. The demise of angel investors highlighted the film's commentary on bourgeois elitism controlling society.

The movie delved into the artist's psyche, portraying an obsession with love while creating art. The theme of performing art for external validation rather than intrinsic joy resonated strongly, shedding light on the power dynamics and folly of male sexuality.

The meticulously planned menu, crafted eight months prior, became a symbol of the characters' struggles and the agony of the artist, evolving from neurosis into psychosis. The exploration of purity and the impact of past trauma added layers of complexity to the narrative.

Overall, the screening provided a platform for engaging discussions on the intertwining themes of art, societal dynamics, and the human condition. The
